Performance Evidence: Different Measures of International Performance

NETFLIX

2024 performance

- Revenue: $39.0bn
- Operating profit: $10.4bn
- Operating margin: 26.7%

Strategic implication

Strong profitability provides capacity for continued investment in international and local content.

Disney

FY2025 DTC performance

- Revenue: $24.6bn (+8%)
- DTC operating income: $1.327bn
- FY2024 DTC operating income: $143m

Strategic implication

Improving streaming profitability supports Disney's continued global expansion alongside locally adapted structures.

prime video

2025 India audience evidence

- Panchayat Season 4 reached 95% of Indian pin codes during launch week.
- Reached viewers in 180+ countries/territories.
- More than 50% of Prime Video's most-watched Top 50 non-English titles came from Prime Video India.

Strategic implication

Indian content can generate both domestic reach and international audience engagement.

Performance is measured differently because the companies have different reporting structures: financial indicators are available for Netflix and Disney, while Amazon does not separately report Prime Video revenue.

Performance evidence suggests that international strategy is reflected not only in financial results, but also in audience reach and the international performance of local content.

DISNEY

Culture, consumer behaviour and institutional conditions influence international strategy.

Successful internationalisation requires balancing global integration and local responsiveness.
